Claims 1, 2, 4-19 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art neither discloses nor suggests the following limitations, in combination with the remaining elements as disclosed in claims 1, 4, 15, 19:

- a current limiting device, connected in series between the power source and each LED pair in which the m pairs of LEDs in each respective parallel path are connected in series, the n parallel paths share common power connections but are otherwise electrically separated from each other such that electrical current entering each parallel path passes through the m series-connected LED pairs of only that parallel path; and m is a predetermined positive integer; and n is a predetermined positive integer greater than one such as required by claim 1;
- a printed circuit board (PCB) base having front and rear surfaces and laterally extending side-edge protrusions; and contact surfaces on edge surfaces of the protrusions; and the PCB based forming a mounting substrate for the LED pairs such as required by claim 4;
- a plurality of LED pairs are mounted on a single printed circuit board (PCB) base; and the plurality of LED pairs include at least three pairs producing light of each of three colors, whereby objects illuminated by the arrangement appear to a viewer to be illuminated by full spectrum white light such as required by claim 15;

- a printed circuit board (PCB) base having front and rear surfaces and laterally extending side-edge protrusions, the PCB base mounting substrate for the LED pairs; and contact surfaces formed on edge surfaces of the protrusions', the protrusions are positioned so as to mate with at least one internal contact surface of a fitting designed to receive an incandescent, plasma-based fluorescent or halogen bulb such as required by claim 19.
